

Contents

Foreword . . . . .	7
Introduction . . . . .	11
Part One. Mandate of a Deputy in Polish constitutions . . . . .	15
Chapter I. Constitutional concept of the representational mandate in the interwar period in Poland . . . . .	17
Chapter II. Parliamentary mandate in the People's Republic of Poland . . . . .	23
Chapter III. Representational mandate in the Third Republic of Poland . . . . .	34
Part Two. The essence of the mandate – Deputies' perspective . . . . .	53
Chapter IV. The notion of the mandate and the role of the Sejm as perceived by the Deputies . . . . .	55
Chapter V. Whom a Deputy represents . . . . .	116
Chapter VI. Deputy and political party . . . . .	154
Chapter VII. Deputy and voters . . . . .	197
Chapter VIII. Deputy and lobbying . . . . .	216
Chapter IX. Spheres of activity of a Deputy-representative . . . . .	236
Chapter X. What a Deputy needs to properly exercise the mandate . . . . .	268
Conclusions . . . . .	309
Appendix. Sejm of the Republic of Poland . . . . .	323
Bibliography . . . . .	341
About the authors . . . . .	355